

I think that there should be a limit on how many stations a company can own. One might as well remove the dial from their radios if one company can buy up all the stations in a city or state.